As an academic, I am interested in exploring various aspects of law, justice, and society. This scholarship is essential to understanding how societies function and evolve over time. The work of scholars like Gideon Boas offers a unique perspective on international law, highlighting its relevance and importance in today's world.

In turn, I can provide resources to students and practitioners, helping them better understand the complexities of international law. This knowledge can be applied to various fields, from diplomacy and foreign policy to international organizations and global governance.

I look forward to working with you to advance our collective understanding of international law.
