

Dimitri Karakitsos has been with the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee for over four years having worked for Senator Inhofe and now Senator Vitter. He serves as counsel working on chemical and toxic substances as well as energy issues for the ranking member. He is a graduate of University of Miami School of Law and licensed to practice in New York State.